

Title

Peace Crane Project

Description

Using the origami technique, we create “cranes of peace” and then we exchange them with an “exchange partner”, a school or group located in another country. Thanks to this activity, we can build connections of peace with new friends, improving our linguistic skills, exploring maps of countries of the world, and getting to know values and customs of other people.

The exchange of the origami “peace cranes” is a simple gesture that opens our hearts and makes us feel more united.

This activity is promoted by Peace Crane Project and the Living Peace International

Beneficiaries

Children and kids from any school, association, or group.

Goals

- Spread a culture of peace, building relationships and new friendships with people from every part of the world
- Familiarise with customs and values of other people

Activity

1. Register your class or group HERE.
2. Choose your partner from this list and email the group administrator to request an exchange.
3. When your request is accepted, exchange your email or street address with the group administrator.
4. Create your origami: doves, cranes, hearts, and anything else you want to share with your exchange partners.

When you create your artworks, write a message of peace.

5. You can send each other letters (as pen pals) or videos, and if you want you can also video-call your exchange partners: in this way, the kids involved will have a richer and more meaningful experience.

6. Send the origami and letters that the kids have prepared to your exchange partner.

Cost is payable by you.

7. To receive the certificate of completion, please send an email to sue@peacecraneproject.org and to share your pictures with the whole Living Peace International network, attach them to an email sent to c.palma@livingpeaceinternazionale.org. ***
